

Mary Nolan

Mary Nolan is a Plein Air painter of New England landscapes. Born in Boston MA and raised primarily in New England, her work reflects the beauty and diversity of this region, from coastal marshes and beaches, to the ponds and lakes, fields and wetlands of central New England and New York.

She focuses on small oil studies done on site, often with the intention of using them to create larger studio pieces. The painting shown in this exhibit is a larger one created from many studies done of a frequently visited place on the coast of Maine.
